Fresh Eggs in Winter.

The poultryman who can supply fresh eggs in winter, when prices are high, has a tremendous advantage over the one who through ignorance or neglect has to wait till summer, when the supply is large. Not every one can do this, and no one can do it unless he takes proper care of his fowls and gives them food containing the essential egg producing ingredients which, when running at large, they can supply themselves to a large extent in summer. There is no better substitute for winter use than "Page's Perfected Poultry Food." H. E. Hathaway of Farham, Que., has used it. Read what he says: "I have tried 'Page's Perfected Poultry Food' and think it is the best I have ever seen."

Any one sending his address on a postal card to C. S. Page, Hyde Park, Vt., and mentioning this paper, will receive by mail, free, postpaid, a sample package of "Page's Perfected Poultry Food."

Boycotting in 1735.

This may be read in the Daily Continent of 1735:

"There being some Indian and French silks now selling by auction in this town and two or three brewers' wives in the Earl of Meath's liberty having bought a few pieces thereof, the master weavers and dyers as well as journeymen of those corporations give notice by beat of drum that they would not drink any liquors whatever brewed by the husbands of the said ladies, who would encourage foreign manufacturers when there are numbers of poor weavers in a starving condition in this town and all over the kingdom for want of employment."—London Notes and Queries.

SCUFFLE IN LONELY SPOT

Signs That It Ended by a Man Being Strangled to Death

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 29.—What is believed to have been a case of murder in which the victim was strangled to death is being investigated by the authorities as a result of the finding of the body of a man about 25 years of age in Swanton. A cord was knotted about the man's neck and had been twisted tight with a small stick.

The body was discovered by Charles Greenleaf, a woodchopper. It lay about a mile distant from the nearest house. It was partly concealed in a clump of bushes.

Investigation showed that a sleigh had been driven into the wood road and had stopped at a point near where the body was found. There was blood on the snow at one place and tracks indicating a scuffle had occurred. It is believed that the man was attacked at this place and overpowered, and his body afterward dragged through the snow to the bushes.

CHILD TAKEN FROM HER

Mrs. Clark Held In $2000 In Alleged Kidnapping Case

Boston, Jan. 29.—Mrs. Maud C. Clark, who was arrested after the officers had a sensational fight, and who is wanted in connection with the kidnapping of her child in New York, was held as a fugitive from justice in $2000 bail by Judge Wentworth in the city police court. The case was continued till next Thursday, Mrs. Clark not having furnished bail.

Mrs. Clark's 5-year-old son, Carleton, was taken from the Chardon street home by the police and handed over to Mrs. Sophie Kremer of New York, who presented papers showing the adoption of the child. The boy was immediately taken back to New York by Mrs. Kremer.

The attorney representing Mrs. Clark claims that she bought back the child from Mrs. Kremer, who had legally adopted it, but was willing the mother should have the child back on paying for it. The attorney claims that Mrs. Clark paid $100 in cash on Oct. 2 and gave her note for $310, and that a few days later an arrangement was made whereby she was to take the child from Mrs. Bell, a sister of Mrs. Kremer, which she did, and brought the boy back to Boston.

The attorney declares the act of the police in giving up the child when the mother was in the Tombs and the case about to be heard was unwarranted, and intimates that he may take action against the police.

JOSEPH BATELLI, ESQ.,

My Dear Sir:—I beg to express to you my thanks for the first volume of the second edition of your remarkable book, "Ellen." Obviously there has been much thought spent upon the reasoning contained in it and the criticisms it contains. I think, will tend to modify some of the views which are today held on these subjects. I shall be glad to see the second volume, since it proposes to discuss the theories of undulation which are more directly in the line of study.

With kind regards believe me,

How Savings Banks Compute Interest.

Most Savings Banks place deposits on interest the first of the month, if made before the 1st. If made after the 1st, they draw from the first of the following month.

The Hyde Park Savings Bank has always paid interest from the beginning of the quarter on deposits made before the middle of the quarter, thus giving and taking exactly alike.

On deposits made now or at any time before February 15th they compute interest from January 1st. Those made between February 15th to May 15th draw interest from April 1st.
